The International Specialized Associations Related to Pediatric Cancer

MAHAK, as the only specialized center for pediatric cancer care in Iran, has the mission of raising awareness as well as sharing knowledge and experience with different society strata.

More than ۳۰ years, MAHAK has always strived to be a part of a worldwide movement with the goal of increasing the survival rate of children with cancer. Being member of different associations at health and treatment industry is one of the best opportunities to going on with the high qualified health care services at international level.

In this line, the “Biennial International Pediatric Oncology Congress” provides an appropriate bed for health professionals, clinicians, specialists and experts to share their attitudes and visions about different cancer-based associations. This brings a great platform to develop collaborations locally and globally.

MAHAK international team invites you to join the introduction sessions at “MAHAK International Communications Booth” to find your own opportunity:
